"This is clearly a further integration of the UK and Israeli intelligence, which is extremely worrisome because it means that the Israeli intelligence agencies have more access to data which is of national security concerns for the UK, it is a kind of penetration of Israeli intelligence into Britain's national security architecture," Miller said.

It is no conspiracy theory that Israel has the capability to completely subvert Britain and most other Western countries...

- They have contracts with our Ministry of Defense, Police and National Health Service and for most of our critical cyber infrastructure which is spearheaded by graduates of the Israeli Special Forces' (Unit 8200) 'Talpiot Program' known for their lifelong commitment to the Israeli State.
- Microsoft security centre, system updates and kernel are all coded and maintained by Israel.
- Intel in Israel manufactured the x86 processors that were found to contain a hardware backdoor allowing full system access overriding all security settings and there is good reason to believe this is widespread. Snapdragon Qualcomm processors are also being made there which are used in many modern phones.
- Recently Israel has been elevated to a Tier 1 cyber partner where they have full unquestionable access to all of our sensitive information and it presents a huge national security risk to Britain as they have very close connections to Russia and China who have all been long known for their disdain for Western countries and ideology.
